RE: Amherst recognizes long-service employees

AMHERST, Nova Scotia – Twenty employees whose labour adds up to about 300 years of service to the Town of Amherst were presented with long-service awards on Thursday, Sept. 16, 2021.

“Our town is fortunate to have such dedicated, hard-working people,” Mayor David Kogon said. “Without their dedication, the town simply could not deliver the quality programs and services that we provide.”

The mayor was assisted in handing out the service awards by Deputy-Mayor Hal Davidson, councillors George Baker, Lisa Emery, Sheila Christie and Leon Landry and CAO Jason MacDonald.

MAYOR DAVID KOGON, DEPUTY-MAYOR HAL DAVIDSON AND COUNCILLORS LEON LANDRY, LISA EMERY, SHEILA CHRISTIE AND GEORGE BAKER PRESENTED CAO JASON MACDONALD WITH A CERTIFICATE HONOURING HIS 20 YEARS OF SERVICE TO THE TOWN OF AMHERST. (TOM McCOAG / TOWN OF AMHERST)

Honoured were:

- Leonard Tower for 40 years of service with the town’s Operations Department.
- Staff Sergeant Brian Gairns and Sergeant Bob MacPherson for 30 years service with the Amherst Police Department.
